CHURCHES AND CHAPELS IN MADRAS.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

The Cathedral Church of St. George

TEYNAMPET.

THE Church is situated on the Mount Road about three miles from Fort St. George; the locality was called "Choultry Plain" in former years. It was in course of construction in 1814-15 and was opened and consecrated by Bishop Middleton on the 8th January 1816: it is built in the classic style, deHavilland, of the Corps of Engineers, built the edifice on the plans of Col. Caldwell, R. E. The Nave is entered from the West, North and South through lofty porches supported on massive Ionic pillars, carrying entablature and pediment common to Roman architecture. The Western or main entrance contains an ample carriage porch from which the Church is entered through a vestibule with a vaulted roof, the upper portion of which is the tower containing a clock and peal of bells and terminating in a spire 139 feet above ground. On either side of the vestibule are the vestries for the Lord Bishop Clergy and Choristers.

The Nave is 100 feet long and 27 feet 8 inches wide (centre to centre of columns) flanked by Ionic columns 30 inches in diameter, and 25 feet 6 inches high from floor to top of capitals. The Aisles are 100 feet long and 18 feet 4 inches wide (from side walls to centre of columns). The Chancel is 22 feet 6 inches long and 20 feet wide. The Chancel was extended in 1857, and finished with a semi-circular apse with windows fitted with stained glass; subsequently the heads of doors and ventilators, which had ordinary glass, were replaced with stained glass, and the Organ Gallery at the West end of the Nave removed. At a later period, with the renewal of the sittings, the Chancel was painted and decorated and paved with encaustic tiles. In 1891 the Chancel was further embellished with a handsome dado of glazed encaustic tiles, and the ventilation was improved. Height of roof of Chancel—32 feet.

The Nave is covered with a tiled roof and the Aisles with flat terraced roofing on teak-wood supports. The Nave is ceiled in a segmental form with teak planking, painted white, with papier-mache enrichments. The Aisles are also ceiled with teak planking. Height of ceiling above floor in the Nave is 33 feet and 2 inches, and height of ceiling above floor in the Aisles 30 feet and 1 inch. The interior walls and columns are plastered and finely polished with shell-lime, a work for which Madras is noted. The exterior is also plastered with shell-lime. The details of corner moulding, &c., are those usually seen in Roman architecture.

The Edifice as originally erected by Lieutenant-Colonel Caldwell, costs Rs. 2,06,842.

The Organ is a fine instrument of three manuals by Hill & Sons of London, which has recently (November 1905) been considerably enlarged and improved. The musical Services are generally recognized as of a high order.

The Tower contains a peal of eight bells, which are rung by one man by mean of a chiming machine.

Bishop Middleton writes in his diary with reference to the opening services:—"Yesterday (8th January 1816) I consecrated a handsomer Church than any which I can recollect in London, supported on 18 Ionic columns, which no English eye could distinguish from marble, with a lofty and elegant spire, and standing in a field also to be consecrated of 5 or 6 acres surrounded with rows of palm trees—the whole conveys a magnificent idea of Christianity in the East. I was assisted on this occasion by seven of my clergy, a great number to bring together in this country." We should hardly now-a-days endorse Bishop Middleton's Eulogy of the Cathedral fabric; but without doubt the building is a fine one and full of dignity.

The 'field' to which the Bishop refers was only consecrated in part, namely, that part which is now known as St. George's Cathedral Cemetery.

The Church contains some fine monuments, amongst which should be especially noticed that to Dr. James Anderson (died August 6th, 1809)—a wonderfully lifelike and natural seated figure of the physician-general; and that to Bishop Heber (drowned at Trichinopoly, April 3rd, 1826), which represents his Lordship in the act of confirmation. These two sculptures are by Chantry. There is also a fine marble statue by Flaxman to James Stephen Lushington, B.C.S. (died 12th September 1832, aged 28) and a figure of Faith holding a cross in memory of the Venerable John Mousley, D.D., first Archdeacon of Madras (died 31st August 1819), also by Flaxman. To the memory of Dr. Daniel Corrie, the first Bishop of Madras (died 5th February 1837) is a remarkably fine statue of heroic size, by Weekes. He is represented imparting religious instruction to a Brahmin boy. Bishop Dealtry (died 5th March 1861) is commemorated by a piece of wall sculpture, administering Holy Orders. A curious and finely erected monument is in memory of John

Mack, Assistant Surgeon (died 20th May 1832). It exhibits a figure of Hygeia, goddess of health, offering milk to a serpent, which drinks from the cup she holds. Among other remarkable monuments should be noticed those to John Dent, M.C.S. (died 17th January 1845) by Weekes; to William Parry (died 14th August 1824), by W. Baily, R.A.; to Captain Andrew French and others (1824-5), a bas-relief of a battlefield by Sievier; to Neville Somerville Cameron, M.C.S. (died 12th December 1833); to Major George Broadfoot (died 21st December 1845), a fine sculpture by Richardson, and to Sir Robert Henry Dick, K.C.B., K.C.H. (died 10th February 1846). A short account of the more important memoirs and monuments in the Cathedral and adjoining Cemetery has recently been published by the Rev. B. M. Morton and may be obtained from the Cathedral Clerk.

Electric lights and fans were installed in 1911.

St. Mary's Church.

FORT ST. GEORGE.

The ancient Church of St. Mary's, situated within the ramparts of Fort St. George, is not only a conspicuous landmark to all who approach the Presidency town by sea, but is also a witness to the piety and devotion of the early settlers on the Coromandel coast in the seventeenth century. Madras itself dates from the 1st March 1639-40.

A small fort was erected on the site of the present Secretariat Offices, and a town gradually sprung up around it. For about 40 years Divine Service was regularly held in one of the rooms of this inner Fort, but in 1677 Mr. Streynsham Master, on his arrival as Agent and Governor, set about collecting funds for the erection of a more suitable place of worship. Subscriptions were raised from all the English inhabitants, and it does not appear that any assistance was asked for or given by the Directors of the English Company. St. Mary's, was the result of local effort entirely. The first sod was turned on Lady Day, March 25th, 1678, and the Church was completed and was dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary and opened for worship on the 28th October 1680. It was consecrated by the Chaplain, Richard Portman, acting under a Commission from the Bishop of London.

The church stands to-day exactly as it was erected, with the exception of the vestry, organ chamber, and sanctuary, which were added in the nineteenth century, and the spire, which was rebuilt at the end of the eighteenth century. The chief objects of interest in this old church are as follow:—

The old Tombstones. These are situated round the north side of the church, and form a kind of pavement. These stones were taken in 1760 from the old graveyard, which was on the site now occupied by the Law College. During the second siege of Madras by the French in 1758-9, the large monuments of the old graveyard afforded shelter to the French sharp-shooters. When the siege was raised, the old burial ground was dismantled, and the gravestones brought to St. Mary's and placed round the church. There are among them also some which were taken from the old Capuchin Church of St. Andrew, which was destroyed in 1749 when Madras was handed back by the French after the Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle. These old stones are of great interest. The most ancient of them is that of Elisabeth Baker, the wife of Aaron Baker, the first Governor of Madras, and is dated August 5th, 1652. Most of the stones are in an extremely good state of preservation, in spite of their exposed situation.

Inside the church are to be seen many interesting objects. Below the Chancel steps are the graves of the Governors. The tomb marked simply with a cross and the words "In Memoriam" marks the last resting place of the ill-fated Lord Pigot. After having risen from the lowest to the highest station in Madras, this unfortunate nobleman was sent out again to stem the tide of corruption among the higher civilians. He was worsted in the encounter, and after having been arrested by the members of his Council, was kept as a prisoner at the Mount until he died on the 11th May 1777. The other Governors who lie buried here are Lord Hobart, April 1875, Sir Henry George Ward, August 1760, and Sir Thomas Munro, July 1827.

The monuments on the walls are worth noticing, especially those to Sir Barry Close, Joseph Moorhouse, George Gilbert Keble, Josiah Webbe, and the famous missionary Frederick Christian Swartz. There are two fine statues. One near the organ is that of Thomas H. S. Conway, "the soldiers' friend"; the other, near the Font, of Hercules Henry Pepper—both of them distinguished soldiers.

Of the old regimental colours which adorn the walls and pillars, the pair behind the pulpit are of the greatest interest. They belonged to the old 102nd Madras Fusiliers (now the Dublin Fusiliers), and were carried by that famous regiment through the second Burmese War in 1852-3, and the Indian Mutiny, 1857-8.

Over the altar is a large painting of the Last Supper. This picture is supposed to have been taken from a church in Pondicherry when it was captured by the British in 1761. The painting is by an unknown artist, but expert opinion dates it as of the sixteenth century, and possibly by a pupil of Raphael. At any rate, it is a valuable historic work. In September 1910 the picture was restored by H. B. Millar. The carved teakwood railing of the west gallery was noticed by Lockyer in 1703. It is of oriental design and beautiful workmanship. The organ is by Hill of London, and was erected by the Rev. C. H. Malden in 1894.

The church possesses some very fine old silver plate and ancient records and registers. These are not kept at the church, but can be seen by appointment with the Garrison Chaplain. For a detailed account of the church and its history to the end of the eighteenth century, the reader is referred to the Rev. F. Penny's book "The Church in Madras."

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.

St. Andrew's Church.

POONAMALLEE ROAD.

On 1st September 1815 a public notification was widely circulated in Madras, which supplied the Scotsmen of this historic city with a fertile and novel topic of discussion. It told how the East India Company had resolved to build a Scots Church in the Presidency town, for the benefit of its Scottish employees, and to establish there a Chaplaincy of the Church of Scotland; how the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland of the previous year had gratefully welcomed this resolution; how the Rev. Dr. Allan, the first Chaplain of the Church, had now arrived in Madras, armed with authority from the Assembly to proceed with the formation of the first Scots congregation in South India; and, finally, it called upon all who intended to attach themselves to the Scots Church to send in their names to Dr. Allan and four co-signatories, in order that definite information might be furnished to the Government as to the accommodation required for the new congregation.

The names and employments of these four devoted Churchmen—the earliest members of the Kirk Session—are interesting as showing the part which influential Scots in those days took in the advancement of their Church, as also as partly accounting for the generous treatment meted out to the Scots congregation by the Madras Government when the Church came to be built. With two Members of Council as builders, and, as it happened, a Scotsman, the Right Hon'ble Hugh Elliot, as Governor of the Presidency, advocacy of the Scottish claims would not be wanting. In the Church records the names are as follow:—Robert Fullerton, C.S., Member of Council; David Hill, C.S., Secretary to Government; Kerby Dalrymple, Merchant; William M. Taggart, Merchant.

To the notice thus issued a cordial response was made. Scotsmen rallied to their Church, and without further delay Divine Service, according to the rites of the Church of Scotland, began to be held. At first, in the absence of a Church, the congregation met in the College Hall, which was temporarily fitted up by Government to suit the emergency, but the question of building a Scots Church was diligently pushed forward. The size and influential nature of the congregation, which rapidly formed under Dr. Allan's ministry, gave weight to the petition which it soon sent up to Government, that the Scots community might be furnished with a church of its own. To the petition Government gave a ready assent, and requested the Kirk Session to select a suitable site and prepare plans of a suitable building for the further consideration of the Government.

The present site—the most central spot in all Madras—was secured and the work of building began. Fortunately there was then in the service of the Government one of the ablest architects India has seen—Major Thomas Fiott deHavilland of the Engineers—and to him the work was entrusted. How well he did his work may be judged by the unstinted admiration which St. Andrew's Church evokes from all who see it. "Perhaps the noblest Christian edifice in Hindustan" is what Bishop Middleton's biographer said of it,—himself no lover of the Scottish Church—and the praise is not undeserved. The foundation stone was laid by the Rev. Dr. Allan on the 16th April 1818, and it was his privilege to solemnly dedicate the Church to the service of ALMIGHTY GOD on the 29th February 1821.

The cost of this splendid edifice was about £20,000, which must be deemed exceedingly moderate for a building of this description.

The edifice may be thus described. The body of the Church is a circle 81 feet and 6 inches in diameter in the clear, with a rectangular compartment east and west of it, and a portico extending beyond the latter to westward. Over the circular part is a dome, covering as it were the nave of the Church, with an annular arch round it, over what may be termed the aisles. The architrave and frieze which stand on 16 columns are of stone, but the cornice above is of brick, and on it rests the dome; of these columns four are of granite, the remainder are of what is termed in Madras "iron stone."

The dome is constructed with but a framework of brick, running upwards from the columns towards the crown, where these ribs are terminated and united together by a circular arch of the same description. This framework is then filled in with masonry formed of cones of pottery such as are used in Syrian roofs. The thickness of the dome at the crown is only nine inches, whence it is gradually increased to nearly twice that dimension at the cornice. Over the Syrian cones before mentioned, three courses of flat tiles are carefully laid and on them the stucco is applied. The dome of the Kirk is believed to be "unique," in that a dome of masonry fifty-one and a-half feet in diameter is supported on a colonnade thirty-five feet high, without beam or lintel, its height at highest point of dome being 54 feet above the pavement of the Church.

To the westward of the compartment containing the steeple stands the portico of the modern "Ionic" order upon a colonnade double its depth, surmounted by a pediment along the whole front in the tympanum, on which the sacred name JEHOVAH appears in Hebrew characters of gold on a triangle emanating rays of glory, while in the frieze below stands the name of the edifice and the date of its erection. Corresponding at the back of the building is also a triangle with two lions guarding a shield under which is inscribed.—"Auspicio Regis et Senatus Angliæ," the arms and motto of the H. E. I. Co.

The steeple stands on the tower, which is raised over the vestibule to a level with the crown of the dome, rises 111¾ feet above it, and is divided into three storeys giving the whole an elevation of 131¼ feet above the entablatures, and 166¼ feet above the pavement of the Kirk. The steeple was completed on 8th May 1820.

The site on which the church stands was purchased for 4,000 pagodas and covers nearly 7 acres. The soil was most unfavourable, as it is throughout the vicinity of Madras. The practice which has obtained from time immemorial in this part of India to secure edifices in such cases is that of substituting wells for the pile work used in Europe. The whole of the foundation of St. Andrew's Church is erected over numerous wells from 10 to 14 feet deep. In 1885 the Church was beautified by the addition of rich stained glass windows and a marble font. The Church possesses a splendid grand organ by Conacher of Huddersfield, England. Some of the best views of Madras may be obtained from the Clock Tower, sanction to ascend which is readily granted by the Senior Chaplain.

For stateliness and general lightness of effect St. Andrew's is probably unsurpassed by any building of the same size, while the marble pavement of the aisles and the highly polished Madras chunam pillars give to the Church an air of purity and grateful coolness that is much appreciated by the worshippers. It is a church to be proud of and thankful for.

ROMAN CATHOLIC.

The Church of St. Mary of Angels.

Commonly called the Catholic Cathedral, Armenian Street.

THE Capuchin Mission of Madras was founded in 1642, under the sanction of Pope Urban VIII., by the well-known Father Ephraim, the pioneer of the Madras Mission, of whom Tavernier gives an interesting account. He was a native of Auxerre, and brother of Monsieur de Chateau des Bois, Councillor of Paris. He was destined for the Mission of Pegu, and in order to reach his destination he made a journey by land across the peninsula from Surat to Masulipatam. Before the English settlement at Masulipatam was broken up, he might have got a ship here to take him across the Bay of Bengal; but then there was none, and he was recommended to go 200 miles further south to the British settlement lately established at Madras. Pope Urban VIII erected the Capuchin Mission into a Prefecture Apostolic. When the Friars built their Armenian Street Church in 1775, they inscribed the date 1642 over the gates as a public record of their first establishment in Madras, and, on a later occasion, when the Church was repaired and the gates widened, the number was preserved at the particular request of the oldest inhabitants. The earliest Capuchins, the founders of the Madras Mission, were Ephraim de Nevers, Zenon de Bauge, Cosme de Giers, Jacques de Bourges, Espirit de Tours, Laurent d'Angoulême, Michael Ange de Bourges, Rene d'Angoulême and Thomas de Poitiers. The last named built in 1675, the Church of St. Andrew within the Fort, which was confiscated and destroyed after Lally's siege. The Capuchin Fathers were permitted to minister to the spiritual wants of the Catholic employees of the Honourable the East India Company, and had free access to the Factory. Albeit, they were burdened with many conditions and forbidden to hold intercourse with their religious confrères in the neighbouring settlement. It is interesting to read the current of events in those far-off times. Though the English residing at Fort St. George and the Portuguese at San Thomé seem to have lived in those days on rather friendly terms, there was an under-current of discontent on both sides, and the Portuguese could not relish the establishment of a Prefecture Apostolic at Madras. Father Ephraim, however, contrived to maintain a friendly intercourse with the Portuguese Priests. In the year 1649, he had occasion to visit the Portuguese Factory; but he no sooner entered the place than he was seized by some Officers of the Goa Inquisition, and carried off to Goa in a small frigate which was then ready to sail. Father Ephraim was indebted to Coota Khan, the King of Golconda, for his release. Through many vicissitudes the Capuchin Fathers persevered in the work begun by them, and handed it down faithfully to their successors, till Father John Bede Polding, a Benedictine, was nominated the first Vicar Apostolic of Madras on the 3rd of July 1832, but he declined the appointment, and eventually became Archbishop of Sydney. The Mission was then taken charge of by the Vicar Apostolic of Bombay, Fre Pedro D'Alcantara, Bishop of Antiphellus, till 1835, when in August of that year the Rt. Rev. Dr. Daniel O'Connor assumed the government of the Mission. Succeeding Vicars Apostolic were Doctor Patrick Carew, 1838-1842 (when he was transferred to Calcutta); Doctor John Fennelly, 1842-1868; Doctor Stephen Fennelly, 1868-1880; The Most Rev. Doctor Joseph Colgan, 1880-1911, in whose time the Vicariate Apostolic was raised to an Archdiocese on the establishment of the Indian Hierarchy in 1886. It was during the administration of John Fennelly that the status of the Catholic community was raised, and the claims of both military and civil Catholic British subjects were adequately recognised by Government. The influence exerted by Dr. Fennelly and by his Clergy upon the European residents, and especially upon the Irish Catholic soldiers, at Madras and other military stations, may be regarded as the most important fruit of his Episcopate.

John Fennelly was brave and outspoken, and of the Daniel O'Connor type. His intrepid advocacy of the cause of his flock obtained for the Catholic community of Madras the recognition of Government. Promotion from the ranks of Catholics in the Indian Army may well be said to have been inaugurated by the strenuous exertions of this good Bishop. He was prominent in the meeting of sympathy with Sir Chas. Trevelyan, the Governor on his recall. In fact, John Fennelly was the founder of the then Madras Mission, which has now risen to be an Archdiocese. He was indefatigable in building the foundations, and spared himself in nothing. He was thoroughly unselfish, broadly tolerant of the religion of others, and ever ready to take up the cause of the poor at whatever cost. Despite all the work that fell to his share in those days of pioneer trouble and anxiety, he daily devoted two hours to teaching in the schools. He was a great and prolific writer and an unsparing controversialist. His memory is enshrined in the hearts of the generation of Madras Catholics who are rapidly passing away, while his bones lie interred in the precincts of the Sanctuary of that Cathedral Church which was the arena of his life's labours. John Fennelly was succeeded by Stephen Fennelly, his brother, under whose régime the finances of the Mission were greatly improved by his tact and business habits. Doctor Joseph Colgan was nominated in private consistory, May 1882, Bishop of Aurelio-polis and Vicar Apostolic of Madras, and consecrated on the 24th August of the same year in the Catholic Cathedral. Promoted to the Archiepiscopal dignity by the Decree of 25th November 1886, he was proclaimed at Bangalore on the 25th January 1887, and nominated by Pope Leo XIII, Assistant at the Pontifical Throne, on the occasion of His Grace's Golden Jubilee, 4th February 1894. His Grace Dr. J. Colgan was called to his reward 11th February 1911, and was succeeded by the Most Rev. John Aelen, D.D., Co-adjutor Bishop and a Member of St. Joseph's Society, Mill-Hill (London). Doctor Aelen was nominated Bishop of Termisonia and Co-adjutor to His Grace the Archbishop of Madras on 2nd December 1901, consecrated at Rosendaal (Holland), 2nd February 1902. Appointed Co-adjutor cum jure successionis to His Grace he Archbishop, 31st July 1902.

The Cathedral Church has two transepts, with a sanctuary, sacristy, nave and side aisles, built by the Italian Capuchins in 1775, and then consisted of a nave with two side aisles, and a sanctuary under a pent roof. The pent roof was removed by Dr. O'Connor in 1887, and a flat roof put on, the walls of the nave having been raised ten feet. The sanctuary was at the same time thrown down and enlarged, and two transepts added His Grace Archbishop Colgan raised the roof of the side Altars to the height of the roof of the Chancel, which is now fitted up with stained glass windows. The picture of the Crucifixion and Mary Magdalene, more than life size, is said to be one of the finest oil paintings in India.

In the Moorat Chapel, attached to the Cathedral, there is an artistic monument of Italian marble. Mr. Moorat was the wealthiest Armenian of his day. He left charitable benefactions known as the "Moorat Fund." His monument bears the date 16th April 1816. His wife, Anna Raphael, died 28th July 1828, aged 57. The earliest gravestone is dated 11th November 1751, and records the sepulchre of Muthu Nayakar, son of Babu Nayakar of the Kavarai caste. The date, 22nd February 1786, is inscribed over the resting place of "Adrian Fourbeck, a merchant of this city of Madraspatnam, aged 71 years." Adrian Fourbeck built a small bridge over the Adyar, 1763, as is recorded in English, Tamil, Persian and Latin, on a monument half way to the Mount outside the Collector of Chingleput's residence at Lushington's Garden. But this is not the Marmalong Bridge which dates from 1725, and was erected by Petrus Uskan, another Armenian Catholic.

Bishopric of San Thome (Mylapore).

According to South Indian traditions, supported by the collateral testimony of the East and West (see Dr. Medlycott's India and the Apostle St. Thomas : London, David Nutt, 1905), the Apostle St. Thomas, after preaching in various parts of India, settled down in old Mylapore (as distinguished from the Mylapore of the present day); was martyred on the hill at St. Thomas' Mount and was buried on the spot on which the San Thomè Cathedral now stands in A.D. 68. The Christian Church of India, founded by St. Thomas, continued to flourish till the persecutions that followed in the wake of the revival of Brahmanism, when the Christian Bishops and priests were put to death and the remnants of their flocks took refuge in the mountains of Malabar. Shortly after, old Mylapore was overwhelmed by the sea (which has a habit of encroaching and receding at this point annually), and the Mylapore of the present time came into being. The fugitive Christians however kept their faith alive by furtive visits to the Grave of the Apostle in the now deserted old Mylapore, till Nestorian Missionaries and Bishops from Persia, gathered them once again into communities, and built a church and monastery at old Mylapore, and another church and chapel at St. Thomas' Mount, which were visited by Marco Polo and other early travellers. But by the beginning of the XVIth century, these buildings had fallen into ruin, till scarcely a trace of them was left when a Portuguese Royal Commission came in quest of the Grave of St. Thomas, which it discovered and identified in 1523, and built a chapel over it to mark the spot.

Presently the Portuguese town of San Thomé sprang up on the site of old Mylapore and was subsequently fortified and made a Bishopric in 1606, by Pope Paul V., at the request of Philip II., King of Portugal, when, later on, the Dutch took San Thomé and handed it over to the Muhammadans, the Muhammadan Governors and their followers settled in the place that separated the European town of San Thomé from the Brahmin town of (new) Mylapore.

When the Bishopric of San Thomé was created, the King of Portugal undertook to support it for all time: a promise which his successors have kept, notwithstanding all the vicissitudes, through which their fortunes have passed, up to the present; enjoying in return the privilege of presenting to the Pope their nominees for the Bishopric. The Bishops of San Thomè originally exercised jurisdiction over all the countries bordering the Bay of Bengal, including Burma. But this jurisdiction was delimited by the Concordat of 1886, entered into between the Holy See and the Government of Portugal.

The present Cathedral at San Thomé was built and completed in 1896 by Dr. Henry Reed DaSilva, who was the first to assume the title of "Bishop of Mylapore," for ordinary use, in order to avoid confusing San Thomé in Madras with San Thomé a Principe (off the West Coast of Africa), an important actual possession of Portugal. But in official documents the Bishops are still described as of San Thomé de Meliapor.

On the occasion of the Tricentenary of the creation of the Bishophric (1906), Dr. Theotonius de Castro, the present Bishop, had the fosse of the Grave of St. Thomas enlarged and faced with marble, to enable pilgrims to have access to the bottom of the Grave and to enable Masses to be celebrated immediately over the Grave, according to the practice of the early Christians.

Persons who cannot afford hotel rates can find inexpensive lodgings in the town within three-quarters of a mile of the Institute.

Well-to-do Indians can find houses in convenient situations and others can arrange for lodging and meals in the town. Indigent patients are accommodated in the free quarters in the Institute compound and will be provided with blankets and cooking pots.

Patients who are sent by or at the expense of private employers, friends or other private persons or associations should be provided by them with the cost of their return journey and also with sufficient money to pay for their food during the course of treatment, which lasts 14 days. If desired, money for these purposes may be sent to the Director of the Institute, and this course is strongly recommended in the case of menial servants and illiterate or other irresponsible people.

Treatment.—All persons who desire to proceed to Coonoor for antirabic treatment at the Pasteur Institute may do so at their own expense. Those who do not desire to do so and all indigent persons may obtain antirabic treament at the Head quarter Hospital of the District and in Madras City at the General Hospital. Treatment at the General Hospital and at the Head-quarter Hospital will be free only to indigent persons. All others will be charged Rs. 10. for the course of treatment; if they are admitted as in-patients, the usual nursing and dieting charges will be levied in addition.

The officers of the Madras Presidency mentioned in Appendix A are authorised to grant the above-mentioned concessions to Government servants employed under them or subject to their authority. Arrangements are now being made to send out the Antirabic Vaccine to the Superintendents of Government Headquarter Hospitals, so that the treatment may be given at local centres and the bulk of the patients saved from the necessity of having to travel to Coonoor for treatment.

THE ARTIFICIAL HARBOUR AT MADRAS.

Nature having done absolutely nothing for the provision at Madras of any kind of shelter for shipping, it has been necessary artificially to provide an enclosed artificial harbour having an area of 200 acres-affording water in all weather at a cost of over a million sterling. The following is a sketch of the provision so made.

A 9-acre boat basin serves for the safe harbourage of all the small craft, from 1,000 ton, downwards, working in the harbour. It is equipped with 1,600 feet of shallow quay wallings alongside of which barges and cargo boats can lie, and is now extensively used for the landing and shipping of iron and stone as well as for non-dutiable coasting cargo, for the handling of which 18 hydraulic cranes have been provided.

A canal from the boat basin leads into a 2-acre timber pond, equipped with small jetties and cranes and with all facilities for handling the timber trade, for which a large storage area is reserved around the pond. The boat basin shelters the Trust's own fleet of some 17 vessels of 1,000 tons and downwards, and, in addition, accommodates as many 40 to 100-ton lighters as private enterprise sees fit to supply for the needs of the landing and shipping business.

There has also been constructed in the boat basin a slipway capable of taking vessels up to 900 tons deadweight, and an area has been reserved with a ramp leading to it on which the smaller barges and boats may be built and repaired. Close alongside the boat basin and its slipway the Trust has built its new and convenient permanent workshops, which are able to undertake all reasonable repairs to its own extensive plant and occasionally to render assistance to shipping.

The port is adequately provided with piping, through which oil and petrol may be pumped into the merchants' installations from vessels lying at their moorings.

Horses and cattle can walk straight ashore into, or can embark from, paddocks, without the intervention of railway wagons.

The West Quay provides berthing for four, or in an emergency, e.g., during mobilisation, for six, vessels of 26 to 30 feet draft. Back of the four berths are four transit sheds of an area of about 7 acres. Between the ship berths, spaces, equipped with 80 one-ton hydraulic cranes, have been reserved for working cargo in and out of lighters. Large portal cranes are provided for working cargo direct in and out of the holds of ships lying at the quay. Electric trucks and stackers have been provided for the speedy transport of cargo into the sheds.

There are three other ship-quays, namely, the Outer Quay, used chiefly for the discharge of case oil and petrol on the north-eastern sheltering breakwater; the East Quay, used for coal, at the old, now closed, harbour entrance; and the South Quay, used chiefly by Rangoon and Singapore passenger vessels, as well as by horse and cattle boats. All these three quays, as well as the West Quay berths, are connected up by rail, on both the metre and the standard gauge, with all parts of the harbour and indeed of India. Everywhere troops and passengers can pass from rail to ship's side in half a dozen paces.

Suitable accommodation for passenger of all classes has been provided at the South Quay at a cost of about Rs. 2,00,000.

Schedule of Harbour Dues.

Super-dues.—All goods arriving at and shipped from this port are liable, until further notice, to pay such super-dues, over and above the rates given below, as may have been notified by Government from time to time.

Parties having goods to clear through the Custom House may do so either personally or through authorised agents. Instructions regarding procedure in clearance may be obtained on application to the Collector of Customs, at whose office a list of authorized agents will be found posted. Parties are advised that it is their business to declare goods brought to the Custom House and that the Customs officers do not undertake to advise consignees of the existence of goods which are brought there. Goods left uncleared for four months are forfeited to Government and sold by auction.

Under section 86 (b) of the Sea Customs Act, goods, at the port of Madras, are landed into the custody of the Madras Port Trust, who are responsible for seeing that they are delivered to the rightful owners. Bills of lading or other proofs of ownership in goods should be produced to the Port Trust.

Goods imported must be declared at the real value as defined in the Act. Undervaluation of goods renders the owner liable to penalties as well as to have his goods taken over by Government at the price put upon them.

Under section 196 of the Sea Customs Act, the unshipping, carrying, shipping and landing of all goods, and the bringing of them to the proper place for examination or weighing, and the putting of them into and out of the scales, and the opening, unpacking, bulking, sorting, lotting, marking and numbering of goods, where such operations are necessary or permitted, and the removing of goods to and the placing of them in the proper place of deposit, shall be performed by or at the expense of the owner of such goods.

The rules governing shipment are similar to those governing the landing of goods.

Special arrangements are made for the passing of passengers' baggage in regard to which the following rules are the most important.

(1) The bonâ fide baggage of a passenger is exempt from duty when it accompanies him; does not form part of the cargo; and is not included in the manifest.

(2) Bonâ fide baggage shall include wearing apparel and personal effects, provided that the articles are not for sale and are imported for the personal use of the passenger or for the use of members of his family travelling with him; but it shall not include the following articles on which duty must be paid in all cases.

(a) Arms, ammunition and all other articles enumerated in schedule II of the old Tariff Import Schedule.

(b) Alcoholic liquor exceeding two quarts, perfumed spirit exceeding one quart, and all other articles enumerated in Schedule III.

(c) Cigars and cigarettes exceeding 100 in number, whether in open or unopened boxes, and other tobacco exceeding 1 lb. in weight.

(d) Pianos, pianolas, carriages, motor cars and motor cycles.

(e) Articles for household use such as furniture, pictures, carpets, glass, crockery, cutlery, and silver and plated ware except such articles (other than furniture or carpets) as shall appear to the Customs authorities to be imported in a moderate quantity and to be required for the personal use of the passenger whilst travelling or immediately upon his arrival at his destination.

(3) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in rule (1), bonâ fide baggage landed at any Customs Port within one month before or after the arrival of a passenger in India, may, subject to the exceptions specified in rule (2), be passed free at the discretion of the Collector of Customs.

SUNDAYS AND CHARTER-PARTY HOLIDAYS IN RELATION TO MERCANTILE CONTRACTS.

The following Ruling was adopted at a General Meeting of the Madras Chamber of Commerce held on the 29th April 1902:—

Goods falling due for delivery on a Sunday, or on a Charter-Party and Shipping Holiday, must be delivered on the day previous to the Sunday or the Charter-Party and Shipping Holiday, as the case may be.

DATE OF SHIPMENT.

The Chamber considered the question of what evidence should be accepted as to date of shipment, and at the General Meeting held on the 27th June, 1911, it was resolved that the following Clause—which had been recommended by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce for adoption by the Bombay Native Piece-goods Merchants Association—should be recommended to members of this Chamber for incorporation in their contracts:—

Either Bill of Lading date, or the date of Manchester Ship Canal Co.'s Certificate, or (in the case of Goods to be shipped from any Port other than Manchester), the date of Dock, Railway or Shipowners' Certificate of receipt for shipment, shall be conclusive evidence as to the date of shipment.

NONWEATHER-WORKING LAY DAYS IN MADRAS.

The following Rule defining nonweather-working lay days in Madras was adopted at the General Monthly Meeting of the Madras Chamber of Commerce held on the 26th July 1910:—

"During inclement weather, the Committee of the Madras Chamber of Commerce, in consultation with the Port Officer, will decide as to what may or may not be considered a weather-working day.

N.B.—The procedure under this Rule is to be as follows:—

When the parties interested cannot agree as to whether a day is a weather-working day or not, the matter shall be represented on the same day to the Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and if the Committee and the Port Officer agree that, by reason of inclement weather, the day should be declared a nonweather-working day, the Committee shall forthwith declare it to be so, and place it on record for further reference if necessary."

ARBITRATIONS AND SURVEYS

ON

PIECE-GOODS AND YARNS.

(As revised in September, 1922).

Whereas it has been represented to the Madras Chamber of Commerce (hereinafter called "the Chamber") that it is desirable to give Arbitration Awards and Survey Reports on piece-goods and yarns an official character, the following Rules have been passed by the Chamber for the attainment of that end:—

Rule I.—Certain gentlemen, who have been nominated and unanimously elected by an annual ballot held in January by the Committee of the Chamber, shall be appointed Arbitrators and for Surveyors to the Chamber, but the Chamber reserves the right of cancelling the first and all future appointments by a majority of votes of the Committee of the Chamber by ballot.

ARBITRATIONS.

Rule II.—In every case where a dispute has arisen in relation to a contract which provides for a decision thereon by the Chamber or in relation to a contract in respect of which both parties thereto shall have subsequently agreed in writing to submit to such a decision, either party to such a contract may apply to the Secretary of the Chamber for the appointment of Arbitrators to adjudicate the dispute.

On receipt of such application, two Arbitrators shall be appointed in accordance with the following provisions.

Rule III.—The Imports Sub-Committee shall select the Arbitrators from the authorised list, and if the Arbitrators are unable to come to an unanimous decision the Imports Sub-Committee shall select an Umpire, either from the authorised list or otherwise, provided that no Arbitrator or Umpire shall be selected or shall adjudicate on a matter in which he or his employers are interested, and not more than one person from the same firm shall be appointed an Arbitrator or Umpire. If any Arbitrator or Umpire declines or fails to act, or if he dies or becomes incapable of acting, the Imports Sub-Committee may appoint a new Arbitrator or Umpire in his stead in like manner.

Rule IV.—The names of the Arbitrators or the Umpire shall not be made known to any persons whatever except as provided in Rules IX and XXI, but the Secretary's record of the Arbitrations shall be available for inspection by the Imports Sub-Committee and by the Chairman of the Chamber or in his absence from Madras by the Vice-Chairman.

Rule V.—The approved list of Arbitrators under these Rules shall be circulated annually, or whenever asked for, to all members of the Chamber and shall be supplied to any party applying for the same.

Rule VI.—Before any Arbitration shall be entertained a minimum sum of Rs. 32 for each Arbitrator, Rs. 32 for an Umpire, and Rs. 32 for the Chamber for each contract in dispute and a sum of Rs. 5 to cover the stamp on the award under the Indian Stamp Act shall be paid to the Secretary.

Fees may be increased at the discretion of the Imports Sub-Committee, according to the merits of the case. Fees not expended will be returned to the depositor.

Rule VII.—The Arbitrators shall, through the Secretary, appoint a time for the hearing of the reference and within seven days of notice in that behalf the parties shall sign and submit to the Secretary a joint written statement, or separate written statements in the form annexed hereto or as near thereto as circumstances will permit.

If separate statements are put in, the Importe Sub-Committee may at its discretion cause a copy of each statement, with or without accompanying enclosures or extracts therefrom, to be submitted to the opposing party for information, and remark if desired before being placed before the Arbitrator or Arbitrators.

Rule VIII.—At the time appointed for the reference, the parties shall have ready at the rooms of the Chamber, or elsewhere as directed by the Secretary, the sale sample, duly attested, and, if required, sample pieces or complete bales. Samples or bales so sent will be at sender's risk and must be accompanied by a peon in charge and by a cooper to open the packages.

Rule IX.—The Arbitrators or the Umpire shall have general authority to require from either of the parties such further written or verbal statements and explanations and other information, evidence and materials as they or he may deem expedient for determining the matter in difference, but shall not have the right to take the opinion or engage the assistance of Counsel, Attorneys or Vakils.

Rule X.—The Arbitrators or the Umpire shall proceed with the reference in the absence of any party who shall, after due notice refuse or neglect to attend, or who shall have refused or neglected to sign and submit the written statement referred to in Rule VII without having previously satisfied the Arbitrators or Umpire that reasonable and sufficient excuse exists for such neglect or refusal.

Rule XI.—The Arbitrators or the Umpire in dealing with the reference shall have power to cancel the contract or direct the performance of the contract subject to an allowance, or grant such other relief as they or he may think fit, and shall direct by which party the costs of the Arbitration shall be paid, and shall as far as possible support their or his award by a statement of the reasons upon which the same may be founded.

Rule XII.—The insertion of a clause is recommended in all contracts made with dealers to the effect that, in the event of any dispute, the parties to the contract agree to abide by the decision of the Arbitrators or Umpire appointed by the Imports Sub-Committee of the Chamber under and in terms of its Rules for Arbitrations and Surveys as revised in 1909.

Rule XIII.—Neither party shall bring or prosecute any suit or proceeding whatever against the Arbitrators or Umpire for or in respect of the matters in dispute or any of them nor any suit or proceeding, save for the enforcement of the award against the other party.

Rule XIV.—The provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act and of the first Schedule thereto shall, in so far as the same are not inconsistent with these Rules, apply to all references hereunder provided always that in the third provision to the said first Schedule for the words "three months" shall be substituted the words "fourteen days" and in the fifth provision for the words " one month " shall be substituted the words " one week."

SURVEYS.

Rule XV.—Any person may apply to the Secretary of the Chamber for a Survey, and if the Imports Sub-Committee be of opinion that the application is one which should be entertained by the Chamber, it shall, subject to the proviso to Rule III, appoint a Surveyor or Surveyors from the authorised list. In the event of no special number of Surveyors being asked for, only one shall be appointed.

Rule XVI.—The applicant for a Survey shall in his application clearly state the purpose for which the Survey is required.

Rule XVII.—Before any Survey shall be entertained, the applicant, if a Member of the Chamber, shall pay to the Secretary a fee of Rs. 32 for each Surveyor and Rs. 32 for the Chamber and if not a Member an additional fee of Rs. 25 for the Chamber.

GENERAL.

Rule XVIII.—All decisions shall be submitted in writing to the Secretary, who shall then, without disclosing the names of the Arbitrators, Umpire or Surveyors, communicate the result to the party or parties concerned.

Rule XIX.—A record of all Arbitrations and Surveys shall be kept in the office of the Chamber.

Rule XX.—The parties to an Arbitration, or either of them, or if either of them should be dead their respective personal representatives requiring the same, or the applicant for a Survey, shall, on application, be entitled to receive from the Secretary of the Chamber a certified copy of the Award or Survey Report under his signature. For each copy of such certificate a fee of Rs. 3-8 shall be payable to the Chamber.

Rule XXI.—Should parties to an Arbitration or the applicant for a Survey require the attendance of Arbitrators, Umpire or Surveyors in a suit or other legal proceeding in which an Award or Survey Report of the Chamber is to be produced in evidence, the Secretary of the Chamber is authorised to give the names of such Arbitators, Umpire or Surveyors upon receipt of a requisition by either party stating that it is for that purpose only that the information is desired.

Any firm, joint-stock company or other corporation eligible for election as a permanent member may become a permanent member in their conventional or corporate name.

Subject to the provisions and restrictions contained in these Articles, the rights and privileges of membership may, in the case of a firm elected in their conventional name as a member, be exercised by any partner in such firm or by any person authorised by power of attorney, or letter of procuration or letter of authority to sign the name of the firm or to sign such name per procuration, and may, in the case of a joint-stock company or other corporation elected a member in its corporate name, be exercised by any responsible officer of such company or corporation.

A candidate for election as a permanent member, whether an individual, a firm or a joint stock company or other corporation, shall be proposed by one and seconded by another permanent member, and may be elected by the Committee.

A firm shall not cease to be a member by reason only of a change in the constitution of the firm, occasioned by the admission, retirement or death of a partner, provided the business of the firm is continued in the conventional name in which such firm was elected a member.

A firm, joint-stock company, or other corporation shall cease to be a member upon any change being made in the conventional or corporate name of the firm, company or corporation.

Any permanent member may withdraw from the Chamber by giving two calendar months' notice in writing to the Secretary of his intention so to do and, upon the expiration of the notice, such member shall cease to be a member.

Any member whose subscription shall be three months in arrears, and who has not paid such arrears within one month after written notice calling for such payment, shall not be eligible either to vote or take part at any meeting of the Committee or General Meeting, or nominate any one for transacting business or to elect a member or to propose or second the nomination of anyone to be a member of the Chamber.

Any member, who does not pay his subscription for 6 months after the same has fallen due, shall cease to be a member of the Chamber and the name of such defaulting member shall be removed by the Committee from the list of members.

If it shall appear to the Committee that any member has not conformed to these Articles or to the bye-laws or regulations of the Chamber, or that any member has been guilty of any conduct likely to reflect detrimentally on the Chamber, it shall be competent to the Committee to request such member to resign, and, if the member so requested shall not resign within two weeks after such request, the Committee shall thereupon convene a Special General Meeting, and, if at such meeting a majority of two-thirds of the members present and voting, vote for the expulsion of the member so offending, such member shall thereupon cease to be a member.

Any person, firm or joint-stock company or other corporation, who shall resign or be expelled under Article 18, shall be eligible for re-election after the expiry of one year from the date of resignation or expulsion, provided not less than three members, in addition to the proposer and seconder, support the proposal for re-election.

Any member, who shall for any reason cease to be a member, shall nevertheless remain liable for and shall pay to the Chamber all monies which, at the time such member ceases to be a member, may be due from such member to the Chamber.

ESTATES.

Situated in North Travancore, the British boundary dividing them from the Palni Hills and Madura District on the East, and the Coimbatore District on the North.

Elevation from 1,000 feet rising to Anaimudi, 8,887 feet, the highest mountain in Southern India.

Mannar, 4,800 feet elevation, is the Head-quarters of the Kanan Devan Hills Produce Company, at which place there is a Post Office and Telegraph Office, within easy reach of the other estates.

Kodaikanal Road is the nearest Railway station, a cart road thence to Bodynaikanur, the foot of the ghât, and from there a bridle path for 20 miles to Devacolam; a Ropeway and Tramway have been constructed to Mannar.

In the general description of the District mention might be made to the effect that there is an excellent motor road to these Hills via., Udamalpet and Chinaar and a partly un-metalled cart road from Alwaye via.. Tattakad and Mankulam.

Much of the land is the property of the Kanan Devan Hills Produce Company, who have opened out the country.

Tea, coffee and cinchona all thrive excellently, as do all sorts of English vegetables, fruits and flowers. The climate (excepting during the rains in the south-west monsoon) is perfect, and during December, January and February, there are sharp frosts most nights on the plateau. The average rainfall is 100 inches, well distributed throughout the year, but the greater quantity falls during the monsoon from June to September.

ARCOT (SOUTH).

A District in the Madras Presidency. Bounded on the North by Chingleput and North Arcot; on the South by Trichinopoly and Tanjore; on the East by the Bay of Bengal; and on the West by Salem. Area, 4,207 square miles. Population, 2,320,085. Language spoken:—Tamil.

Cuddalore.—A sea-port, and the headquarters of the district, is situated on the Pennair and Gadilam rivers; vessels anchor within about 1¼ miles of the shore. In 1682, the E. I. C. opened up negotiations with the Khan of Gingee for a factory at Cuddalore, and the first buildings were put up in 1683; a ring of palmyra trees still marks the land ceded for the settlement. Trade grew rapidly, and the Company erected Fort St. David and enlarged their warehouses. In 1702 the fortifications were rebuilt on more modern lines. On the fall of Madras in 1746, the administration was taken to Cuddalore. Fort St. David was soon after twice besieged by Dupleix, but without success; in 1752, the headquarters of Government were re-established in Madras, and, six years after, the French occupied the town and stormed and destroyed the Fort. It was re-taken by the British in 1760, but again fell into the hands of the French in 1772, and was unsuccessfully besieged by the British in the following year. In 1785 it was finally restored to England, under the treaty of Versailles.

A few of the ruins of the old Fort still exist, and the old garden-house (1788) of the Governors of Fort St. David is now the official residence of the Collector of the district.

There is a Station Club, and also one for Indian gentlemen. Conveyances can be hired at the Railway Station (South Indian Railway), and in the town.

BANGALORE.

Bangalore is a city situated in 12° 57′ N. Lat. and 77° 35′ E. Long., and is 71 miles north of Seringapatam it is 216¼ miles by rail, west of Madras. It covers an area of about 22½ square miles, and is divded into two distinct parts, viz., the City or Pettah, which is the old Native Town of Bangalore proper, and the Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station. Bangalore is the seat of Government for the Mysore State, and the Civil and Military Station is the head-quarters of the Bangalore Brigade of the IX (Secunderabad) Division of the Army. It is also the head-quarters of the Resident in Mysore and Chief Commissioner of Coorg.

The name Bangalore is a corruption of Bengalúru, which is probably derived from Bengalu a kind of bean, (hence the proverbial "City of Beans"), and the following story has been related in connection with it: One day, when King Vira Balláˊla was hunting, he became separated from his attendants, and, losing his way, wandered about till nightfall. At last, faint and weary, he came upon a solitary hut, in which was an old woman, to whom he applied for something to eat. She had nothing better to offer him than some Bengalu, (green beans boiled in a little water), which, however, he was glad to get, and sharing them with his horse, passed the night under the shelter of the lowly hut. The incident speedily became known, and the village (úru) which sprung up. thence took the name of Bengalúru. Bangalore has long enjoyed a reputation for salubrity, and a climate suitable for Europeans. Many hale, hearty people of an older generation have settled there: children thrive there. The hot season is from March to May, Courts, schools and colleges have their vacations at this time. The weather is dry, and often untempered by any breeze; the maximum heat is from 90° to 95° occasionally 99°. The mornings, even at this time, are fairly cool; with sunset the temperature falls rapidly and the nights are quite bearable. The S.-W. monsoon breaks in June, accompanied by high winds and cloudy days; thereafter the weather is cold and bracing, and the close of the rainy season in November is marked by dense fogs which prevail all over the country in December and January, when fairly warm clothing is advisable.

The City stands in the centre of the Mysore table-land, about 3.000 feet above the sea, the general level being broken by a few slight elevations. The old Fort stands in the extreme south-west, north of which is the Pettah. The Fort is said to have been originally built of mud in 1537 by a local chieftain, the Poligar Kempé Gowda. The present fortifications of rubble stone were built in 1761 by Hyder Ali from plans by a French Engineer. The old Palace of Hyder Ali and Tippu Sultan was used for offices until 1876, when they fell into decay, but a small portion was restored in 1886. Some foul, dark, subterranean dungeons still exist, one of which was Sir David Baird's prison for three years and ten months. Beyond the Fort is the Lal-Bagh, or Horticultural Gardens, one of the finest in India. The City comprises an area of 10·72 square miles, and trade is brisk in cotton and grain.

The Civil and Military Station stretches away towards the north-east, terminating in the Native quarters of the Cantonment Bazaar, beyond which are the suburbs of St. John's Hill, Benson Town and Cleveland Town, dotted with the cottages of a large number of pensioned Europeans, and Fraser Town, with Richards Town Cox Town and Wheeler Extension recently opened up to relieve the congestion in Blackpully. The large open space between the two Native quarters contains the Race Course, the Cubbon Park, the High Ground, and the Parade-ground. Here also are situated the chief Government offices, the houses of well-to-do European residents and the principal Hotel. The localities in the South are Richmond Town and Langford Town, Shoolay, Nilsandra and Ulsur. The Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station, covers an area of about 12¼ square miles and was assigned to the British Government for purposes of political and administrative control, the Maharaja of Mysore having renounced the exercise of jurisdiction within it. It is officered by a British Resident of the first class, who is also the Chief Commissioner of the Province of Coorg. In it are situated the Barracks and Lines of the troops. Here also are the residential quarters for Europeans, Telegraph and Post Office schools, banks, shops, and places of amusement and recreation. The Central Jail covers a large space to the west of Cubbon Park, and is built on the radiating principle, with workshops for many trades. The Central College to the south-east of the Jail contains a hall with a roof supported by light monolithic columns, 30 feet high, quarried in the neighbourhood. The Maharaja's fine Palace is on the High Ground, in the extreme north. The new buildings of the Indian Institute of Science lie in open ground to the extreme north-west of the Station. There are numerous churches of different Christian denominations and many Hindu temples and Mahomedan mosques, as well as several excellent schools for European children.

BELLARY.

The district of Bellary (Valahari) lies between latitudes 14° 14' and 15° 57' and longitude 75° 45' and 77° 40' with an area, including the Sandur State, of 5,718 sq. miles, and a population of 862,870 (according to the 1921 Census). Languages spoken in the district are Canarese, Telugu and Hindustani. It is bounded on the north by H. H. the Nizam's Territory, from which it is divided by the Tungabhadra river; on the south-west and south by the Mysore country; on the east by the districts of Anantapur and Kurnool, and on the west by Mysore and the district of Dharwar in the Bombay Presidency. The height of the plateau averages from 800 to 1,000 feet above the level of the sea. The western taluqs are the highest, as the country there gradually slopes towards the western ghats. In the southern taluq, also, as the table-land of Mysore is reached, the elevation is not considerable. The soil in the eastern taluqs is largely composed of the celebrated regada or black cotton soil. In the western taluqs, there are patches of the same soil, but the red soils predominate, and, in the neighbourhood of hills, good gravel is found.

The general aspect is that of an extensive plateau, elevated on the shoulders of the western and eastern ghats, the plain of which forms a considerable angle with the horizon, inclining towards the east coast of the peninsula. Thus at Belgaum, in the South Mahratta country, the height of the plain is 2,568 feet above the level of the sea, at Bellary it is 1,600 feet The western ghats clearly form the anticlinal line to which the arenaceous and bistous eastern ranges are more or less conformable. The plain has another and more gentle dip towards the north, to the beds of the Kistna and Tungabhadra rivers. The bed of the Tungabhadra is a little more than 1,000 feet above the level of the sea; the plain rises as we proceed south, and, in the centre of the district, it is 1,500 feet, and on the Mysore frontier in the south, 2,228 feet above the sea. To the centre of the district the surface of the plain presents a monotonous and almost treeless extent, bounded by the horizon, and unbroken, save by a few rocky elevations that stand forth abruptly from the sheet of black soil like rocks from the ocean. Of this tract, Sir T. Munro wrote: "These districts are more destitute of trees than any part of Scotland

I ever saw; the traveller scarcely meets with one in twenty miles and nowhere with a clump of fifty." Since this was written large sums of money have been spent in planting topes and trees and some success has been attained. The town of Bellary itself is fairly well wooded, and, along all the roads in the district, avenues have been planted. The Sandur hills are covered with a good growth, though the trees are nowhere very large yet. Almost every variety of tree known in S. India can be found on these hills. In the Kudligi Taluq there are large areas now under reservation, containing a fair growth of small forest.

In the reign of Krishna Rayel of Vijiyanagar, a small fort was built at Bellary by Timmappa, a dependant of that king. He and his son Rangappa held it for many years, paying an annual tribute of Rs. 1,000. After the battle of Telikota, Bellary became subject to the Mohammedan soverigns of Bijapur, but the successors of Rangappa Naick were almost independent, and in 1650 Hanumappa, his grandson, defeated the descendant of the Vijiyanagar Rajas, who claimed tribute from him, in a battle which was fought near Kampli. For another century the feud went on between the Rajas of Bellary, as they now styled themselves, and their former masters. After a time, Bellary became part of the possessions of the Nizam and was included in the jaghire of Adoni, which had been given to Basalat Jung, the Nizam's brother. In 1769 Saldar Jung and M. Bussey were sent from Adoni to collect the tribute, which the Poligar had for some years refused to pay. The Poilgar rashly called Hyder Ali to his aid, who reached Bellary by forced marches, and engaged and defeated the army of Basalat Jung, in the plain at the foot of the rock. Doddappa Naick, the Poligar, who had watched the contest from the top of the rock, fled by night to Sholapur, and Hyder took possession. He spent much money on the fortifications, and, with the assistance of some French adventurers, who were in his camp, he built the upper and the lower forts much as they now are. Tradition adds, that at the completion of the work these Frenchmen were hanged near the fort gate, because Hyder then for the first time discovered that the other rock was the higher, and that from it his stronghold could be commanded. Bellary was held by Hyder Ali and afterwards by Tippu till 1792, when, by the partition treaty of 1792, it fell to the Nizam. The rock round which Bellary town is built is a huge granitic mass, rising somewhat abruptly from the plain. It is about 450 feet above the level of the plain, and nearly two miles in circumference. To the east and south, the appearance presented is that of a heap of boulders irregularly piled one on the other, but, to the west, it slopes down more gradually and offers an unbroken surface of sheet rock. To the north is a smaller detached mass of rocks.

The climate of Bellary is characterized by extreme dryness, in consequence of the air passing over such an extent of heated plains. Less rain is supposed to fall at Bellary than at any other place in South India. The quantity of moisture in the air, as indicated by the hydrometer, is exceedingly minute, though the air is remarkable for its transparency. More rain falls in the taluqs bordering on the Tungabhadra. From the situation of the district, almost in the centre of the peninsula, it benefits by both monsoons, and yet does not get the full force of either. From the commencement of November to the end of May rain rarely falls, though sometimes, in April and May, there are violent thunderstorms and much atmospheric disturbance. In the first week in June, the south-west monsoon is looked for, and, with the first few heavy showers, the hot weather is at an end. About 5 inches of rain fall in this month and July. Towards the end of September, the wind veers round to the north, and about the middle of October, the district is visited by the north-east monsoon. The average rainfal in September and October, is 9½ inches.

The cool season begins in the month of November, at the close of the north-east monsoon. During this period the wind is steady from the north-east and the weather is extremely pleasant. In the early mornings the thermometer is often as low as 62o, but the usual daily range is from 67o to 83o. The atmosphere is clear and the nights very cool. Towards the end of February, the weather begins to get hot, and early in March, the country presents an altered appearance. As the month advances the hot west winds set in vegetation disappears, all the grass is burned up, and the country resembles a deary waste. In the black cotton country the soil, baked as hard as a stone, is split in all directions by cracks and fissures, from one to three feet in depth. In the other taluks dust-storms are of frequent occurrence. The atmosphere glows intensely, and the glare, increased by the white and sparkling nature of the ground, is most distressing. The tanks rapidly dry up and expose beds of slime and decomposing mud. The nights are generally calm, and the atmosphere is stagnant and oppressive to a degree. Towards the end of May, the heat is almost insupportable. At midnight even, the thermometer sometimes marks 100° Fahr., and glass and wood crack simply from the heat. In the day time the house can be cooled by cuscus, tatties, but after sunset the hot wind usually fails. At the end of the month, or in the begining of June, heavy clouds begin to gather in the south-west, and generally after a few days of oppressive stillness, the approach of the monsoon is heralded by two or three violent thunderstorms. These cool and refresh the air, and the hot weather is at an end. The interval between the two monsoons is generally very pleasant. The days are cloudy and the air fresh and agreeable. September is usually close and oppressive and this lasts till the rain falls. For three months of the year the heat is excessive, but the remaining nine months are comparatively cool and pleasant.

CHINGLEPUT.

The District of Chingleput derives its name from the Town Chingleput. The Town in Tamil is made up of two words " Chengalvam and pattan," Chengalvam means red lotus, as it was a town full of red lotuses, which also now continue, though not in abundance. The district encloses the city of Madras, and comprises the seven taluqs of Chingleput, Conjeeveram, Madurantakam, Ponneri, Saidapet, Tiruvallur and Sriperumbudur, with an area of 3,071 square miles, and population of 1,49?,058, the majority of whom are engaged in agriculture. There are 22,225 weavers, a third of whom reside in and about Conjeeveram. The languages of the district are Tamil and Telugu. The Palar is the chief river in the district. Parts of the Chingleput and Madurantakam taluqs are undoubtedly pretty, presenting undulating plains varied brridged or conical hills. These taluqs are well-known as snipe grounds. Snipe, are found from October, till the end of March. The South Indian Railway Company has two lines in the district one short branch, 18½ miles, connects Conjeeveram with Arkonam, another runs from Madras southwards, passing on its way through St. Thomas' Mount, Pallavaram, Chingleput and Madurantakam.

Chingleput is the chief town of the district and here are the offices of the District Judge and Sub-Collector, but the Head-quarters of the Collectorate are at Saidapet. The Fort, which is Chingleput's chief characteristic, was erected after the fall of the Vijiyanagar power about the end of the 16th century. It passed out of the possession of its original constructors, the Hindus, into the hands of the Mahomedans, and, in 1751, it was taken by Chanda Saib from Mahomed Ali, when, with the aid of the French, he invaded the Carnatic. In 1752, a French force sallied from it and made a fruitless attempt to prevent the capture of Covelong by Capt. Clive, who, after reducing the place marched on Chingleput and took it. With the advent of peace, a jail was established and in 1887, the fort was practically handed over to the Educational department for the purpose of a Reformatory School. This school is intended for the juvenile offenders of the Presidency, who are sent there by the Magistracy, usually for petty offences, theft, etc. The staff consists of a Superintendent who is the Medical Officer of the District, a Deputy Superintendent, who is the chief and permanent executive officer, and who is a member of the Provincial Educational Service. The present Superintendent is P. Krishnawarriar. There is no Deputy Superintendent now. There is also a staff of teachers and trained instructor-maistries. The boys are taught carpenter's, blacksmith's and rattan work, tailoring, weaving, etc. There is also a band and bugle class. Great attention is paid to physical and moral training, and when the boys leave the institution they are provided with appointments through the help of the District Magistrate. The work of the institution is unique, and it is well worth a visit; it differs from similar institutions in other parts of India, inasmuch as the boys are treated in a manner akin to that of a Boarding School. There are two High Schools in the town the Native High School and the U. F. C. M. High School.

PRINCIPAL PLACES OF INTEREST.

The Seven Pagodas on the coast, which can be approached by road from Chingleput, at a distance of 16 miles. These are monolithic temples, Dravidian in character, and are certainly anterior to the 7th century B. C. No traveller should fail to visit these works of the sculptor's art.

Tirukalikudram, or the hill of the sacred kites, is situated half-way between Chingleput and the sea coast. It is a ridge terminating in a spiked hill, on which stand the remains of a quaint temple of great antiquity, and dedicated to Siva. Every day two birds of the kite species come to the hill to be fed by an attendant Pandaram. They are said to come from Benares.

Conjeeveram lies 22 miles west of Chingleput. The native name of the place is Kanchi or golden city ,(or the place where Brahma worshipped Vishnu) and Sive is said to have exclaimed that " of all town Kanchi is best. There is a large weaving community, and fine country cloths of all kinds are still manufactured there in larged quantities. Conjeeveram is the most sacred city in the South of India. There are three important temples, the oldest is dedicated to Siva, the second to Vishnu, and the third to the 'loving.eyed " Patrvai, the wife of Siva. The town has always been celebrated for its fine wide streets and pleasant appearance, it possesses a good water-supply, the water being pumped from a fine, well sitrated in the middle of the Vegavathy, a tributary of the Palar river. It is an important municipal town in the district.

Sriperumbudur is situated about 25 miles to the west of Madras. It is noted as the birth-place of he famous Sri Ramanuja Chariar of the Vaishnava sect.

Wallajahbad is situated on the Palar between Conjeeveram and Chingleput. It was a Military Cantonment for many years, but the mortality became so great that the place received the name of "the grave of Europeans."

Pollilore a village ten miles north-west of Conjeeveram, was twice the scene of battle between the English and Hyder Ali. It was in the first battle in 1780 that the English sustained the most crushing defeat ever inflicted on them in India. In the following year, Hyder gave battle at the same place and was defeated by Sir Eyre Coote. On the field are two tombs of officers who were killed in the second battle Madurantakam is situated on the Great Southern Trunk Road, at the 50th mile stone from Madras. The Railway passes the town. The majority of the landholders are Vaishnative Brahmins. The only noteworthy feature of the place is its very fine tank.

Karunguli is two miles from Madurantakam. The most interesting historic monument is the fort the origin of which appears to be Mahomedan; about 1750 it passed into the hands of the French, when Duplcix espoused the cause of Chanda Sahib. In 1759, Sir Eyre Coote marched against it unsuccessfully, but, in the year following, it fell into the hands of Hyder. In 1781, Sir Eyre, who was at Chingleput, sent Capt. Divis with 1,000 men to occupy it, which he did by blowing open the gateways. The Madurantakam tank, one of the largest in the South, which was formed towards the end of the 18th century by damming up the Kiliyar river, commemorate the name ot Place, the Collector, under whose auspices it was constructed. His house at Karunguli is now used as a Travellers' Bungalow.

Saidapet Taluk.—Tne rivers that flow through this taluk are—

1. The Cortelliar, which falls into the Ennore backwater.
2. TheCooum, after supplying the Chembrambakam tank, flows through the town of Madras into the Sea or

The Adyy which flows to the South of Mylapore, a suburb of Madras.

The oule two works ofn importance are the Red Hills and Chembrambakam tanks.

The Red Hill tank depends for its supply on a channel taken off from an anicut across the Cortelliar. The water first flows into the Sholavaram tank, and then through a regulating sluice into a channel for its conveyance to the Northern end of the Red Hills tank. Water is conveyed to the City of Madras by a closed conduit. During the hot months water often becomes scarce and has to be pumped.

Saidapet is five miles from Fort St. George and is the head-quarters of the Collector. Of late years it has become an educational centre, with the establishment of the Teachers' College.

Guindy is about a mile-and-a-half south of Saidapet. The Governor of Madras has a residence and an extensive Park here. The King Institute, for bacteriological investigations and the manus facture of vaccine, is located in Guindy.

Poonamallee is situated on the Western Trunk Road, 18 miles from Madras. It was established as a Cantonment tor the purpose of receiving European invalids. It is still used as a sanitarium fo British Troops.

Tiruvallur.—At the Northern end of this taluk the Nagalapuram and Sattiyavedu Hills relieve the flatness of it—Kambakam Drug, the highest point, is 2,548 feet above the level of the sea. The Cooum has its source principally in the surplus waters of the tank of the same name. Red handkerchiefs and Mussulman cloths are manufactured in the Sattiyavedu Division, and are sent to Bangalore. Tiruvellur is the chief town of the taluk. The temple (Viraraghavar), at each new moon, attracts crowds of Pilgrimes from Madras, to whom it would appear the greatest sin, if they were prevented from paying their devotions, and performing their ablutions.

For Travellers' Bungalows, etc.—See Special Section.

CHITALDRUG—MYSORE.

A District in the North of the Mysore State, between 13° 35' and 15° 2' N. Lat.; and 75° 8' and 77° 2' E. Long. Area 4,022 square miles. Languages:—Telugu and Canarese.

Taluks:—CHALLAKERE, CHITALDRUG, DAVENGERE, HIRIYUR, HOLALKERE, JAGALUR, MOLAKALMURU AND HOSDURGA. For Staging Bungalows, etc., see separate section, Harihar (Sub-Taluk).

CHITALDRUG is the chief town of the District of the same name, situated to the North of the Mysore Province; the M. and S. M. Railway traverses the district. Chitaldrug is 24 miles from the Holalkere railway station and 126 miles North-West of Bangalore, on the Bangalore-Harihar road. The town is surrounded with a line of old fortifications. The Mahal or palace in the inner fort, built by Tippoo Sultan, is used as the Veterinary Hospital. Before it was an enormous trough for watering elephants, which was found on the hill, and was cut from a single stone. To the west, in a rugged and picturesque group of hills, is the Ankli math. This is a curious series of subterranean chambers, now regularly built round with masonry. In them are shrines, lingams, baths and pedestals; the style of the architecture is about 500 years old, but the caverns no doubt existed long before. About 6 miles south of Chitaldrug he is Jog matte, a hill 4,000 feet above sea-level. It is a convenient resort from the intense heat of hot the months.

COCHIN STATE.

Description and Position.—Cochin (Vernacular-Kochi) is a Native State in subsidiary alliance with the British Government and politically connected with the Presidency of Madras. It is said to be called after the town of that name, formerly its Capital, where in 1502 the Portuguese were allowed to settle and erect a Fort. In 1663 it was captured by the Dutch, and from them the British took possession of it and it is now a British possession. The State lies between 9° 48′ and 10° 50′ N. Lat. and 76° 5′ and 76° 58′ E. Long. It is bounded on the north by British Malabar, on the east by British Malabar, Coimbatore and Travancore, on the south by Travancore, and on the west by British Malabar and the Arabian Sea. The area of the State is 1.417¾ square miles, according to the recent survey of the State. The Total Population, of the State according to the Census of 1921 is about 9,79,019.

Divisions.—For administrative purposes Cochin is divided into five taluks, viz , Cochin-Kanayannur, Mukundapuram, Trichur, Talapilli and Chittur. In addition to these, there is also the small principality of Cranganur under a Chief, paying tribute to Cochin. This principality is financially autonomous, but is in all other respects administered as one of the taluks of the State.

Physical features.—The Cochin State is naturally divided into three well-defined parts or zones—the hills, the plains and the seaboard. The hilly or eastern portion, which covers nearly half the extent of the State, is broken by long spurs, extensive ravines, forests and tangled jungles rising, terraced by terrace, to an elevation of 5,000 feet above the sea-level. It is covered with magnificent forests of teak and other valuable trees, and exhibits everywhere a splendid luxuriance of foliage and flowers. Stretching westward, in gentler slopes and gradually widening valleys, but broken here and there by isolated low hills, the plains succeed forest-clad uplands. Intersected by numerous rivers and streams, dotted everywhere with homes and farmsteads, and closely cultivated wherever possible, these plains stretch towards the backwaters, in a succession of gentle undulations. Between the backwaters and the sea is the long and narrow stretch of sandy seaboard, densely covered with luxuriant cocoanut palms, and, in parts, where there are natural or artificial embankments, large quantities of rice are grown. It is low and generally swampy and, in several parts, liable to be flooded during the monsoon inundations.

Political relation.—The State is governed by the Maharaja as its hereditary King, with the Dewan appointed by him as his Chief Minister and advised in all important matters by a British Political Officer called the Agent to the Governor General Madras States and has political relations with the India Government. The Maharajah's powers are limited only by the Regulations passed by himself and by the treaty obligations with the British Government, the powers exercised by his officers being but those delegated by him by legislative enactments or by special rules or orders. The Dewan is the responsible minister of the Maharaja and the Chief Executive Officer of the State and he is primarily responsible for the official and progressive administration of the State.

History.—The Maharaja of Cochin traces back his descent from the last of the Cheraman Perumals and possessed extensive territories. The Maharaja lost a considerable portion of his territories in the struggle between the adjoining States in the middle of the 18th century. The Town of Cochin is historically important as being the first European Settlement in India where the Portuguese were allowed to erect a fort by the Raja of Cochin in 1503. In 1663 the Dutch expelled the Portuguese and became masters of the place. The British in their turn drove away the Dutch and took their possessions in 1793. Ever since it remains with the former. The State of Cochin has a Colony of Jews who migrated there so early as the first century after Christ. Tradition has it that the Apostle St. Thomas landed at Malankara, near Cranganur, about 52 A.D.

Ranges of Hills.—The chief ranges of hills are the Nelliampathies with Parambikulam and the Pothundi in the Chittur taluk, the Machad in the Talapilli taluk, the Paravattani in the Trichur taluk, the Palapilli, Kodasseri, and Adarapilli in the Mukundapuram taluk, and Malayattur in the Cochin-Kananayur taluk. Nellikotta or Padagiri on the Nelliampathies, which is 5,000 feet. high, is the loftiest peak in the State.

Rivers.—The chief rivers are the Alwaye or Periyar, the Chalakudi, the Kurumali, the Manali, the Ponnani, and the Anamalai. Besides these there are several minor streams. There is a picturesque waterfall, of nearly 150 feet at Adarapilli.

Backwaters.—One of the most striking physical features of the country is the continuous chain of lagoons or backwaters, running parallel to the sea, and receiving the drainage of the numerous streams descending from the Western Ghats. They are very irregular in form, with a breadth which ranges between four miles and a few dozen yards; branch out into a number of intricate and shallow channels, and contain several low alluvial islands. They communicate with the sea at three points—Cochin, Cranganur and Chetwai. Though these backwaters are shallow in most places, navigation is at all times possible for flat-bottomed passenger and cargo boats. In places where they are very deep, navigation during the monsoon season is often dangerous and tedious. There are also two extensive fresh-water lakes, which are connected with each other, the Enammakal and the Manakudi. The other lakes are Cochin, Kaithapuzha, and Chathanad, which are salt-water.

Ports.—The ports of Cochin, excluding the port of Cochin which lies entirely in the British district of Malabar, are Malipuram, Narakal and Cranganur. The port of Cochin though it belongs to the British Government is described here, as almost all the whole sea-borne trade of the State passes through this port and its improvement and development are of more importance to Native Cochin than to British Malabar. The port consists of an outer roadstead and an inner harbour with a large expansion of backwater behind it, where vessels of great draught can be conveniently accommodated when the sea is very rough. This can be done only if the bar at the mouth of the harbour is removed and if it is done, Cochin can be made one of the finest harbours in the world. As it is, it is the third largest trading port in Southern India. Malipuram and Narakal are open roadsteads, which are generally resorted to only during the monsoon months, when the shipping from Cochin takes refuge at the mud-bank of Narakal.

Islands.—The chief among the islands are Kumbalangi, Kumbalom, Venduruthy, Bolghatty, Kadamakudi and Panambakad. At the southern extremity of Bolghatty is situated the British Residency, commanding a grand view on its three sides and overlooking the Cochin Harbour.

Soil and Climate.—The prevailing geological formation of the eastern zone is gneiss, which decomposes into a soil, which, in combination with the climate, is eminently suited to promote a luxuriant forest growth. Proceeding westwards, the formation merges into a laterite underlain by gneiss, and becomes sandy on the seaboard. The climate, though damp and enervating, is not particularly unhealthy. It is most moist and enervating in the southern taluks, which are situated by the sea and the backwaters, but less so in the northern taluks. Of all parts of the State, the Chittur taluk, situated within the Palghat gap, has the driest and most bracing climate. The lower hills and parts of Chittur are feverish, especially during the dry months.

Flora and Fauna.—The forests abound in teak, rosewood, blackwood, ebony, white cedar, red cedar Irul (X. dolubriformis), Aini (A. hirsuta), Vedaukorana (B. sylocarpa), Venga (P. marsupium), Pongu (C. bracteatum), Veembu (K. clycina), Venteak (L. lanceolata), Maillellu (V. altissima), Elavu (B. malabaricum) and other trees and plants of commercial and medicinal value. Coffee and cardamoms are grown on the Nelliampathies. The flora of the laterite plains consist of jack, mango, areca palms, banana, and various species of plantain. The cocoanut palm is the chief growth of the seaboard. The forests of Cochin contain all the larger animals of South India. Elephant and bison are common in the Parambikulam Range, and, to a smaller extent, in the Kodasseri Range. Ibex are seen occasionally in the higher ranges of the Nelliampathies. The tiger, bear, cheetah, leopard, hyaena and sambhar, with many varieties of deer, are met with in all the forests. The true hunting leopard and wolf are said to be found in some of the jungles. Monkeys and birds are abundant, both in the hill- and the plains, as also are snakes and other reptiles. Fish of various tribes and species abound in the rivers and backwaters.

Arts, Manufactures and Industries.—Cotton weaving is carried on to some extent in Chittur and Talapilli taluks. There are a few fly shuttle looms in Trichur. There, laced and unlaced cloths of fine texture are manufactured. Grass mats, of exquisite colouring and texture, are made in Wadakancherry. They are highly admired and are in great demand. Coir matting, ropes and rugs of good quality are made in Ernakulam and Mattancherry. The most important factory industry is the extraction of cocoanut oil by steam mills, all in the Cochin-Kanayanore taluk. There are nearly a dozen factories of tile and brick works (Mangalore pattern) in the state. There are also steam saw-mills and a hydraulic press. Agriculture is the chief occupation of the people. Cultivation of coffee, tea and rubber is carried on in the forests.

Education.—The necessity for a system of imparting State education was recognised by Government so far back as the year 1818 by establishing 33 Vernacular Schools in the several Proverthies or villages of the State with the avowed object of training up young men for State Service, as Writers and Accountants, giving instructions in the three R.'s and Astrology and Sanskrit to advanced pupils. The first attempt to introduce the study of the English language was made by a Missionary, Rev. J. Dawson, by opening a school at Mattancherry in 1818 in aid of which he received a grant from the Sirkar. This school had to be closed within three years for want of pupils. In 1835 another school was opened where children of the Jews were taught English, Hebrew and Malayalam. This School is still in existence. Two years later, an English School was opened at Trichur and another at Tripunithura for the education of the Princes and others. The 'free school' established at Ernakulam in 1845 was afterwards raised to the standard of a High School in 186› and was placed in charge of an European Head Master, Mr. A. F. Sealy, M.A., with whose name is associated the progress of English education in the State. The liberal policy followed by the Dewan, Mr. Sankunni Menon, C.S.I., contributed not a little towards the education of His Highness' subjects. During his Dewanship the High School was raised to the standard of a Second Grade College in 1874. In 1877 District Schools were opened in all the taluks and a Director of Education in the person of Mr. Sealy was also appointed. Grant-in-aid rules were framed in 1899. A great impetus was given to the education of the masses by the organization of the Department of Vernacular Education in 1890. State Schools were opened for boys and girls in most of the Proverthies and a large number of indigenous schools were brought into the aided lists. In the beginning of 1892, the Vernacular and English Departments were amalgamated and placed under the control of a Superintendent of Education. In 1898 the High Schools, both Sirkar and private, were removed from the control of the Superintendent and placed directly under the Dewan.

The altered conditions under the new educational system rendered the introduction of a variety of reforms in this important branch of the Administration and with this object in view the State obtained the services of a special Educational Officer, Mr. J. Van Someren Pope, M.A., retired British Director of Education in Burma. The main lines of reforms introduced by Government were fully dealt with in the Dewan's Press communique (February 1908) and are, the introduction of free Primary education for girls and backward classes throughout the State, opening of night schools for the labouring classes, institution of free scholarships to backward classes throughout the State, institution of free scholarships in the Secondary Schools, revision of the existing grant-in-aid rules on a liberal scale, opening of a traning school for female teachers, adoption of increased scale of pay for Primary and Girls' school teachers and the opening of an Industrial and Technical Institute.

Religious and Charitable Institutions.—The Devaswoms or Hindu religious institutions under the State are of two kinds, viz., Incorporated and Unincorporated Devaswoms whose properties and whose revenues and expenditure were completely merged in the general revenues and expenditure of the State are termed 'Incorporated Devaswoms.' The Devaswoms whose properties and receipts were not amalgamated with those of the State but were kept separate and the expenditure met from those receipts are called 'Unincorporated' Devaswoms. In the case of the former set of Devaswoms, since the expenditure exceeded the receipts, there was no balance available and excess expenditure had to be met from the general revenues of the State. In the case of Unincorporated Devaswoms they were self-supporting, while a majority of them had incomes considerably exceeding the expenditure and thus they had a tolerably good sum as balance to their credit. There was thus a great disparity in the financial position of the two classes of Devaswoms. With a view to place this branch of administration on a satisfactory footing and to make it self-supporting as far as possible, His Highness' Government devised a completely new scheme of Devaswom Administration, and brought it into force in September 1909. By this scheme all Devaswoms under Sircar management, Incorporated and Unincorporated, were amalgamated and constituted into a separate endowment, the several Devaswoms being thus made component and inter-dependent parts of a whole, instead of being the isolated units that they were. This involved the restoration of the properties and monies of such of the institutions as were annexed to the Sircar, nearly a century ago, and the creation of a separate trust fund. For administrative purposes the Devaswoms are divided into four groups. The receipts and expenditure of the Devaswoms were entirely separated from the general revenues but the Devaswoms are allowed to bank with the State Treasuries. The Pathivu or customary scale of expenditure in all Devaswoms was revised and a uniform system of collection of revenue, control of expenditure and maintenance of accounts were introduced. Oottupuras.—These are feeding houses, where gratuitous meals are given to Brahmans. There were 15 of them till 1902. In the reorganisation of these institutions 4 of them were abolished and sumptuous meals were arranged to be served to all bona-fide travellers in all the Oottupuras except Tripunithura where the residents are also fed in the morning. There are also 2 Oottupuras where conjee is served for a few months in a year. These institutions cost the Sircar nearly half a lakh of rupees per annum. Water Pandals.—The State is everywhere dotted with water pandals where butter-milk flavoured with salt and limejuice, &c., is gratuitously served to the wayworn travellers during the hot season.

Commerce.—The chief exports are cocoanut-oil, coir yarn, rope fibre and matting, cocoanut, copra, oil-cake, timber, coffee, lemon-grass oil, ginger, pepper, fish and prawns. The chief imports are rice and paddy, cotton piece-goods, raw cotton and twist yarn, metals, cutlery, hardware, sugar, kerosine-oil and salt. Kunnamkulam is the centre of trade in arecanuts.

Tramway.—The approximate area of the Cochin forests is nearly six hundred square miles, about half of which are virgin forests, unworked for want of a suitable outlet. From the Parambikulam Range an outlet in the shape of a tramway and timberslide has been constructed by the Government, up to Chalakudy, a station on the Shoranur-Cochin Railway, a distance of nearly 50 miles. This line is now considered as one of the biggest and best equipped tramway designed for purely forest work in the world, and it possesses many features of special interest to engineers, arboriculturists and railway men generally.

Railway.—A branch line of railway (Metre Gauge) was opened in July 1902, from Shoranur to Ernakulam, the capital of the State. The line, 64·8 miles, cost nearly 71 lakhs of rupees, and is now worked by the South Indian Railway Company. There are 17 stations on the line.

Roads and Communications.—There are in all about 500 miles of metalled road maintained by the State, besides the unmetalled. The backwaters, also, afford easy communication with several parts of the State. There are some navigable canals also which afford communication.

Cranganur.—Cranganur, situated near the sea on the right bank of the Periyar river, is the seat of an ancient principality. The Chief is a Kshatriya by caste and gets a fixed allowance from the Cranganur Treasury for his own maintenance and the maintenance of other members of his family. It has an area of 18¾ square miles. It is a very densely peopled tract. It is financially autonomous, but in all other respects it is administered as an integral part of the State. The Chief pays a tribute of Rs. 6,857 to Cochin.

Cranganur is a place of great historical interest, though it is now of little importance. It once possessed an excellent harbour and was an important centre of commerce, trading with the West even before the Christian era. In the first century of the Christian era Pliny described it as "the first emporium in India." During this period and for some centuries afterwards it was the seat of the Perumals or the early kings of Kerala before its dismemberment. The Jews and the Christians got their first footing here and founded towns long before the Portuguese discovered a direct route to India. Here the Portuguese built a fort in 1523. The fort was renovated by the Dutch when the Portuguese power fell to their prowess. Ruins of an old fort are now visible. One branch of the Periyar river and the Chalakkudy river empty themselves at the Cranganur bar. The temple at Cranganur is known throughout the West Coast and is dedicated to 'Sri Kurumba Bhagavathy.' At the time of the annual festival known as 'Kodungallore Bharani' thousands of pilgrims assemble here. The members of the Chief's family are well versed in Sanskrit. One of them, Raja Valia Goda Varma Raja, is the recipient of the title of Mahamahopadhyaya, conferred in recognition of his high attainments in Sanskrit learning.

Revenue.—The gross revenue of the State under all ordinary receipt heads for the official year 1096, M.E. 1920-1921 excluding the principality of Cranganur was Rs ·60,22,548.

Languages.—Malayalam, the Vernacular and the official language of the State, is spoken by the Majority of the people, but Tamil, Telugu, Konkani (a dialect of Maratti Canarese, and Tulu are also a spoken.

Towns:—The chief towns in the State are Ernakulam, Trichur, Mattancherry, Chittur, Thattamangalam, Tripunithura, Irinjalakuda, and Kunnankulam. A Municipal Regulation has recently been introduced by Government and four towns were brought under it. They are Ernakulam, Trichur, Mattancherry, and Chittur-Tattamangalam.

Ernakulam.—Ernakulam is the capital of the State and is the terminus of the State Railway. The principal buildings are the Huzur Secretariat, the Chief Court, the District Court, the District Munsiff's Court, the Magistrate's Court, the offices of the Diwan, Peishkar, the Tahsildar, the Excise Superintendent, the Anchel Superintendent, the Chief Medical and Sanitary Officer, the District Registrar, the Ernakulam College, the General Hospital, the Durbar Hall, and the Guest House. Close to the Railway Station is the Travellers' Bungalow. There are in the town two power mills for the extraction of cocoanut oil and the Burma Oil Company and the Asiatic Petroleum Company have large petroleum installations near the Railway Station. The town is supplied with good drinking water from the Alwaye river. There are palaces of His Highness the Raja, a Residential Palace for the young Princes, and a temple dedicated to Siva. There are four important churches belonging to several sections of Roman Catholics and also a Protestant Church. Ernakulam is situated on the east side of the back, water, and is 2¼ miles off from Cochin. There is a motor launch plying between Ernakulam and Cochin. Six miles to the south-east of Ernakulam is Tripunithura, where His Highness has a palace and the members of the Royal family reside. The most interesting annual function of the place is the Attachamayam in August, which is believed to be the commemoration of a victory gained by Cochin. On the morning of the day His Highness the Raja goes in procession round the town in a palanquin, whom [illegible] by all the State officers and the representatives of the old Chiefs, and with all the paraphernalia of oriental pageantry. When the procession is over, His Highness holds a levee at the Kalikot a place, when all the officers and Chiefs pay their respect to him one by one and receive from him money presents according to a graduated scale. His Highness the Maharaja resides generally in the Hill Palace at Perinhinakulam, two miles east of Tripunithura. On the island of Bolghatty, north-west of Ernakulam, is the British Residency in Cochin. There is a very fine old Dutch building with new improvements. The British Residency is located in the most prominent part of the island and commands a view of the harbour and of adjoining islands situated in and around the backwaters.

Mattancherry.—Mattancherry is situated on the western side of the backwater that separates it from Ernakulam. It lies to the south of British Cochin and is a centre of considerable export and import trade, which is almost entirely in the hands of Banyas and Kachi Memons from the Bombay Presidency. The retail trade is mostly in the hands of Konkani Brahmans and Baisyas (Baniyans). Mattancherri is said to have been once the capital of the State and contains a spacious old palace of quaint design which was built and presented to the Raja by the Portuguese about the year 1555. It is in this palace that the Rajas of Cochin are installed on the Musnad even now. Within the palace there is a temple dedicated to Pazhayanur Bhagavathy. There is a colony of White Jews in Mattancherry. They hold a charter engraved on copper plates granted to them by Bhaskara Ravi Varma, Emperor of Malabar, in 373 A.D. Near the palace there is a synagogue belonging to the White Jews. Among modern institutions of interest are the large and richly endowed Konkani temple of Tirumala Devaswom, and the Women and Children's Hospital. The town also contains a District Munsiff's Court, a Sub-Magistrate's Court, a Police Station, a District Registrar's Office, a Male Dispensary and a High School maintained out of the funds of the Tirumala Devaswom. Owing to the mismanagement of this Devaswom, the Government very recently undertook its management. There is a Leper Asylum in the island of Vendurathy, separated from the mainland by an arm of the backwater.

Trichur.—Trichur is a town of great antiquity and sanctity, and is said to have been founded by Parasu Rama. In the centre of the town and on the summit of a hillock stands the ancient Pagoda of Wadakkunnathan to which many thousands of people annually resort on the occasion of the 'Trichur Pooram Festival', in the month of Medom (May). On the four sides of the town there are ruins of an old fort and ditch. There are two mutts of Nambudiri Sawmiyars, and there is a Vedic College called the 'Brahmaswam Madam' where gratuitous boarding and instruction are given to Nambudiri youths. Trichur is the headquarters of several Public Offices, viz., the Chief Engineer the Conservator of Forests, the Comptroller of Accounts, the Superintendent of Police and Commandant of the Nair Brigade, the District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Registration, the Land Record Superintendent, the Agricultural Superintendent, the Devaswom Superintendent, the Director, of Education, the District Court, the Magistrate's Court, the Hospital, the Veterinary Hospital the Lunatic Asylum, the High Schools for Boys and Girls, the Government Industrial and Technical School and the Havelock Market. The Central Jail is situated at Viyyoor close to Trichur. There is also a State Museum and Zoological Garden. There are four Churches in the town—Romo Syrian, Chaldean, Latin and Protestant, and it is also the chief centre of the Church Mission Society's work in the State. His Highness the Raja has a palace built by the Dutch This palace is surrounded by a fort and a ditch and has two entrances. The fort and ditch are not in good condition. There is a Travellers' Bungalow. The Kokkalai Canal connects the dock in the Railway Station yard with the backwaters, and provides a means of communication with all the important towns on the West Coast. The Enamakkal Lake is only five miles to the south-west of Trichur is an extensive fresh-water lake where during summer weather (February to April), kole cultivation is carried on on an extensive scale. The water is baled out either by Persian wheels or pumps worked by steam. The lake, viewed from the hillocks situated to the east of it, presents a beautiful sight.

Agricultural College and Research Institute.

The College, a very handsome building in the Hindu Saraceuic style, is situated about three miles from Coimbatore to the west, in the Revenue village of Thelungupalayam. Standing in its own grounds of 450 acres, flanked by the various quarters in which the teaching staff, the students and the Research Assistants are housed, it is approached by a handsome avenue named after Sir Arthur Lawley, late Governor of Madras.

There are two courses at the College:—The Certificate course of two years open to candidates who know sufficient English to follow the lectures, and the Degree Course lasting three years, admission to which is restricted to those who have passed the Intermediate Examination in Arts or II.

In addition to their theoretical training in Agriculture, students of both courses have to engage in field operations and cultivate their own plots of dry and wet land. They also receive tution in Veterinary Hygiene and Dairying. The students of the Degree course receive, in addition, systematic instruction in the sciences allied to agriculture, namely, Chemistry, Botany, Entomology, Engineering etc.

The object of the Research Institute is the investigation of the Chemical and Biological problems presented by Indian Agriculture.

A short distance from the college there are the Cane Breeding Station under the Government Sugarcane Expert, the Paddy-breeding station under the Government Economic Botanist, and the Cotton-breeding station under the Cotton Specialist.

The workshops of the Government Agricultural Engineer are also situated at the College.
